The NOPHN objectives were to \u201cstimulate responsibility for the health of the community by the establishment and the extension of public health nursing\u201d and \u201cto develop standards and techniques in public health nursing service\u201d (Gardner, 1933, p. 27). From the outset, the NOPHN recognized the political expediency of forming coalitions with other health professionals and laypeople and included these other individuals as members.

A Historical Perspective on Policy, Politics, and Nursing ...

Moreover, policy and politics determines nursing itself – past, present and future. It profoundly shapes the practice and workplaces of nurses at local, regional, national and global levels (Salvage & White in press). Most nurses say they just want to get on with their job, and not worry about the macro-level concerns of policy and politics.

Nursing leadership and health policy: everybody's business ...

Nursing is the largest component of the health workforce everywhere, but the profession has not yet realized its –potential to profoundly influence policy and politics on a global scale– even though it is the –moral and professional obligation of nurses to be engaged in legislation that impacts their patients– (Rakow 2016).
